It is easy for people to talk about themselves, and state what they may have done, but it is far better to have other people speak for you. The words which follow are the frank expressions of people who know of what they speak.

Rev. William W. Whitney, of Linlithgo, N. Y., says: "I have been afflicted more or less for six years past with malaris, ague, have had pneumonia three times and have been troubled with bronchial and catarrhal trouble of the throat. Two years ago I had the grip, which ran into catarrhal pneumonia. While in this condition I began taking something of which I had heard much, and am rejoiced to say that I have been practically cured by the use of Duffy's pure malt whiskey." It is easy for people to talk about themselves,

Mr. John K. Chase, Amesbury, Mass., says:
"For some six years past my wife has been suffering from nervous prostration. For years she was troubled with insomnia and nothing recommended by the most eminent physicians would induce sleep. Under the advice of physicians she recently tried Duffy's malt whiskey in small quantities and with the most satisfactory results. While Mrs. Chase has always been staunch in her temperance principles and consistent in practice, she has no hesitation in recommending to invalids who need a gentle stimulant, Duffy's pure malt whiskey."

E. C. Avila, of the Brooklyn association for improving the condition of the poor, says:

"I have used Duffy's malt whiskey for the past two years, having suffered from severe headaches and nervous prostration. I have been

The above statements speak for themselves.

IN THE CYCLING WORLD. MORGAN ON THE RACING SITUATION.

HE ADVISES RACING MEN TO STICK BY THE L. A. W .- THE NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE POLICE

W. J. Morgan, of the Cycledrome, in Brooklyn, locs not think that there is any chance of a rival association getting the control of cycle racing away rom the League of American Wheelmen, and that is where Mr. Morgan thinks wisely and with much discernment. Speaking of the racing situation Mr. Morgan says: "Politics should not figure in racing. President Potter seems to have a desire to solve the question, and he has a committee working on the matter. I would ask every professional to stand loyally by the League and wait until the proper moment for action. President Potter did a rise thing when he reappointed Chairman Albert Mott as head of the Racing Board. Mr. Mott is an experienced man, and it would have been a calamity for racing if he had been removed. The League of American Wheelmen must control racing this year, and that is the opinion of both the National Track Association and my circuit of about twelve tracks, which will probably be extended to about wenty before the season is over. I intend to stand twenty before the season is over. I intend to stand by the League of American Wheelmen, and think there should be no attempt to take the control of racing from the old organization at the present time. The National Track Association and the International Track Association will work hand in hand in the matter, looking toward a final solution later on. This will be the greatest year that cycle racing has ever experienced, and the international garments will be either buttoned or strapped close to the leg just below the knee, and they realize that such a uniform, while it might be attractive to some people, is not the most comfortable garment to use on a wheel. For horseback riding no one could find any objection to it, but equestrianism and bloycle-riding are widely different recreations. A prominent wheelman suggested to the Police Department the advisability of having large bells put on the wheels to be ridden by the police, but the suggestion was refused, as it was said that the average bicycle bell made noise enough.

Several members of the New-York Consulate when seen yesterday were asked how it was that the resolution was offered regarding the taking away from Sterling Elliott of 'The L. A. W. Bulletin."
They said that the suggestion had been made by Captain P. S. Tilden. The subject had not been discussed previously, and while the idea was a new one to all, it was adopted as soon as it was proposed.

The cycle police say that the scorchers promise to keep them busy for a few weeks, but that after that they will get these undesirable nuisances in hand, and that they will take good care of them during the remainder of the season. One day last week, when the Brooklyn Cycle Path was thronged, a tandem came up the new path at a clipping pace. A policeman called to the riders to stop, but they simply put on extra speed. At the crossing at Howe's old place the tandem riders cut across the road, darted benind the roadhouse and quickly dismounted and disappeared. The policeman made a long search for them, but he could not find them. The favorite scheme of a scorcher when closely pursued by a policeman is to dart off on one of the side roads, and, as a general thing, the policeman gives up the chase. hand, and that they will take good care of them

TALK ABOUT TURF AFFAIRS.

PRESENT DOINGS OF HORSEMEN-THE JOCKEY QUESTION.

Michael F. Dwyer intends to devote all of his time to the preparation and management of his extensive stable of horses at the Gravesend track. Mr. Dwyer's health is fully as good as it has been at any time in the last five years.

A slight fail of snow caused the trainers to keep indoors since Friday. With the single exception of Previous, who is likely to be one of the wiry, light-fleshed order of thoroughbreds, the horses at the land tracks are his and high in flesh, and appear island tracks are big and high in fiesh, and appear to be in excellent order to begin the active work required to put them in condition for the spring campaign. There have been many rumors affeat about Hambutg's condition. Marcus Daly's expensive racer has been extremely ill, according to some reports, while other reports say that he is in superb health and was never better in his life. It is likely that Hamburg will be trained with a cloud of secrecy enveloping him if what the turf gossips say is true. Why there should be any mystery about a horse so thoroughly known as Hamburg causes some turfmen to smile and to pass remarks. Thorough-breds belong to their owners until their form is exposed, and then they are practically public property, and it is useless for owrers or trainers to make a great ado about horses that are almost certain to be odds-on in the betting in any races (except handicaps made by a competent handicapper) in which they may start. Marcus Daly is a liberal, progressive turfman, who is greatly ad-mired by the rank and file of racegoers. Conse-quently, when active training begins Mr. Daly is likely to make some changes in the manner in which Hamburg is being made an advertising medium for individuals.

William Astor Chanler deserted politics long enough on Saturday to make a visit to Morris Park, where he has five horses in training. Caldron s the pride of the Chanler stable, and in A. J. Joyner's hands may furnish some hot tips during the early spring campaign.

W. B. Burch is having a hard time of it at Aiken,
S. C. Catarrhal fever attacked his stable ten days ago, nearly every animal in it being afflicted more or less severely. To cap the climax of his misfortunes, John Sanford's filly May, a highly tried two-year-old, by Meddler, had an attack of meningitis, which caused Trainer Burch to lose many nights' sleep, as he believed the filly to be nearly first class. Mr. Burch's horses are now in a fair way to regain the time lost by the invasion of disease. It is hoped that Mr. Burch's horses will be sufficiently recovered to take part in the spring meeting at Bennings. James Rowe was in the city on Saturday. He reports that the horses at Brookdale are making good progress, and are taking regular work. Rowe is now a farmer as well as a trainer, and talks learnedly about crops and the market price for turnips, pumpkins and cabbages.

Feakes, the trainer, is happy and contented at Holmdel, where he has fifteen promising youngsters, he property of Daly & Gideon.

Louis Stuart pursues the even tenor of his way, confident that he possesses the best two-year-old in Monmouth County, "b'gosh!"

PROTESTS FROM A PATIENT THAT HER FRIENDS ARE TRYING TO HAVE HER CONFINED AGAINST HER WILL

Meredith Aylward, and says she is a musical critic on "The Musical Courier," was taken to Bellevue Hospital yesterday for examination as to her san In the insane pavilion she became hysterical. She had not known, she said, where she was being ing a telephone message was received at the hospital, and the night clerk there was told that an insane patient was about to be sent from No. 19 East Thirty-second-st., with a letter from a physician. Just after 8 o'clock a carriage was driven into the hospital grounds with a man who appeared to be a physician and two women. One of the women said she was Mrs. Aylward.

The man had a letter addressed to Superintendent O'Rourke, which read:

"Mrs. Aylward was sent to a private sanitarium this afternoon, but for reasons which her friend will explain she was not kept. I would like you to keep her in Bellevue, and everything will be explained to your entire satisfaction.
"DR. WICKES WASHBURN.

amined and where she was. When the physician explained to her that she was in Bellevue Hospital, Mrs. Aylward became hysterical, cried loudly that her friends were trying to have her confined against her will and that she would not remain.

The man who had accompanied Mrs. Aylward and was addressed as Mr. Richardson tried to reason with her, as did also her woman companion. But she insisted that she would go to her home. She entered the carriage again, and directed the driver to take her to the Hotel Jefferson, Fourth-ave, and Fifteenth-st. In the course of the examination by Dr. Robertson, the woman said she lived at the Hotel Jefferson, and when asked for the name of a friend, gave that of Arthur Burgoyne, of Westcott, near Pittsburg. Fenn.

At the Hotel Jefferson it was said that Mrs. Aylward had been a guest there, with her daughter, for several months. Of late she had been acting strangely, and a physician had advised that she be piaced in some institution for a time.

When Dr. Washburne was teen he said the case was a particularly unfortunate one. Mrs. Aylward, he said, was a patient of his, suffering from nervousness evidently brought on by drink. He had thought it best to have her confined for a few days to some institution where she could be restrained and have proper treatment. He had sent her to a sanitarium in Thirty-second-st., but she had refused to remain there. He had then hoped to keep her in Bellevus Hospital, but had no means of compelling her to stay.

AMERICAN BICYCLES IN CANADA.

VIEWS OF THE COMMERCIAL AGENT AT PORT

months ago the Cycle Board of Trade of New-York City sent to the consular officers of the United States in Canada a circular containing a series of questions, with a view of obtaining information which would promote the trade in Ameri-Dill, of Port Hope, Ontario, sent his reply to the circular to the Department of State. Inasmuch as the subject is one of general interest, a copy of it has been transmitted to the Cycle Board of Trade. Mr. Dill writes that bicycles are in general use throughout Ontario, and that an increase is ex-1897, which were very large. The country is level and the roads are excellent. About nine-tenths of the bicycles in use in the Port Hope consular district 30 per cent ad valorem, and it is reported that the Canadian manufacturers are demanding a specific duty of $9 on each wheel imported, with a proviso that in no case shall the duty be less than 25 per cent ad valorem. Steel imported for the manufacture of bicycle chains by manufacturers in their own factories is free of duty, as also are facture of bicycle chains by manufacturers in their own factories is free of duty, as also are duck and canvas and fabrics for the manufacture of bicycle tires. Mr. Dill adds:

"There is a reciprocal tariff which gives a discount of one-eighth on nearly all dutlable articles coming into Canada, which is to be increased to one-quarter on and after July 1 next. Nearly every country, with the exception of the United States, has this benefit. It is thought, however, that this reciprocal tariff will be so changed during the present session of Parliament that it will apply only to Great Britain and her colonies.

"Retail prices," he continues, "are really the sums which the agent can obtain—a sort of catch as catch can." Instances where list prices are obtained are very rare." Among merchants who act as agents for the sale of bicycles are to be found some of the most substantial men in the country, but very frequently the so-called agents are those who wish to obtain the discount on a wheel for personal use, and who never give a second order.

Mr. Dill recommends the sending by bicycle manufacturers of representatives to establish agencies in charge of trustworthy persons, who will confine their business to one particular make of wheel. Where several varieties are controlled by one agent the bicycle bringing the largest commission receives the most attention. Terms of credit in Canada are longer than in the United States and Mr. Dill expresses the opinion that a liberal discount for cash would be an inducement for a smart, active agent.

According to the official statements issued by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, the exports of bicycles from the United States to British North America during the calendar year 1897 amounted to 574,889, as compared with $551,577 during the year 1896. In 1897 Canada bought more American bicycles than any other single country, or colony, except the United Kingdom ($2,123,491), and Germany ($3,758,559). France took $233,599 worth, all the rest of Europe bought $1,110,509 worth, and Br

Of Certain French Novelties

DARIS has outdone Paris. Not a new thing, either, for that versatile and variable city;—Paris outdoes her. self almost every season. With every importation of a new year, one says that surely textile art can go no further.

The French designers of these high-grade goods, superior to convention. scorning the Fashion-edicts which are their own creation, joyfully disregard both, and look only to Effect. "Beauty is its own excuse," say the Frenchmen. They place Beauty on a throne, and give her the royal attribute of infallibility. "So long as it be beautiful, it cannot be wrong," they say, and give their fancies free rein. With Beauty, they enthrone a consort,—Novelty. To these typically French sovereigns these importations of ours are dedicated.

It's impossible to describe such goods. A characteristic of them is a perfect riot of color,—they are chromatic orgies. Yet they never, even in a single pattern, pass that fatal line which separates good taste from bad.

In the wonderful collection which has just been opened here, you will look in vain for the patterns which you have been told are to be "stylish." These are themselves Style incarnated. They follow no plan,—they have no rule. they are simply irresponsible, irresistible beauty in a hundred forms which have never been seen before.

We call these "dress goods." As a matter of fact, they are almost wholly silk, -kept from the regular silk counters only by a cord or stripe of mohair.

Here's a hint or two,-colorless and pale after one has seen the fabrics themselves. There are also many interesting matters in Black-especially Crepons and Grenadines which deserve detailing even in connection with their brilliant sisterhood above mentioned.
